

Figure 1: Scatter plot showing the relationship between X and Y. The data points are scattered around a central point, with a cluster of points in the upper right quadrant and a cluster in the lower left quadrant. A dashed line represents a linear regression fit to the data.